

The new Planning and Infrastructure Bill
WEAKENS
the protection of nature.

We DEMAND
a rethink NOW!

In a Wilder Future, everyone has wildlife and natural spaces nearby.

Nature helps us all in lots of ways!

New changes to planning laws could put this at risk.

The draft wording of a new Bill allows the Government to scrap some of the parts designed to protect nature.

That won't be good for wildlife, or people.

There's a chance right now to change things for the better.

New rules could lead to:

- less wildlife
- fewer open spaces, hedges and trees where people live or work
- free rein for developers to ignore the environment when planning
- buildings without trees or plants, no community spaces or gardens

Why should communities AND nature miss out? Done right, nature makes every development high-quality, attractive and sustainable.

Nature makes us all healthier, happier and even wealthier.

If the government makes some easy changes now to this Bill, everyone could have wilder, healthier homes, workplaces, and lives.

We all deserve that.

Agree? Get involved

wtru.st/planning2025

New space for nature MUST be protected through a 'Wildbelt'
designation.

In a Wilder Future, everyone has wildlife and natural spaces nearby.

Nature helps us all in lots of ways!

New changes to planning laws could put this at risk.

The draft wording of a new Bill allows the Government to scrap some of the parts designed to protect nature.

That won't be good for wildlife, or people.

There's a chance right now to change things for the better.

New rules could lead to:

- less wildlife
- fewer open spaces, hedges and trees where people live or work
- free rein for developers to ignore the environment when planning
- buildings without trees or plants, no community spaces or gardens

Why should communities AND nature miss out? Done right, nature makes every development high-quality, attractive and sustainable.

Nature makes us all healthier, happier and even wealthier.

If the government makes some easy changes now to this Bill, everyone could have wilder, healthier homes, workplaces, and lives.

We all deserve that.

Agree? Get involved

wtru.st/planning2025

Development MUST NOT leave wildlife worse off.

In a Wilder Future, everyone has wildlife and natural spaces nearby.

Nature helps us all in lots of ways!

New changes to planning laws could put this at risk.

The draft wording of a new Bill allows the Government to scrap some of the parts designed to protect nature.

That won't be good for wildlife, or people.

There's a chance right now to change things for the better.

New rules could lead to:

- less wildlife
- fewer open spaces, hedges and trees where people live or work
- free rein for developers to ignore the environment when planning
- buildings without trees or plants, no community spaces or gardens

Why should communities AND nature miss out? Done right, nature makes every development high-quality, attractive and sustainable.

Nature makes us all healthier, happier and even wealthier.

If the government makes some easy changes now to this Bill, everyone could have wilder, healthier homes, workplaces, and lives.

We all deserve that.

Agree? Get involved

wtru.st/planning2025

EVERYONE
needs natural spaces where they live and work

In a Wilder Future, everyone has wildlife and natural spaces nearby.

Nature helps us all in lots of ways!

New changes to planning laws could put this at risk.

The draft wording of a new Bill allows the Government to scrap some of the parts designed to protect nature.

That won't be good for wildlife, or people.

There's a chance right now to change things for the better.

New rules could lead to:

- less wildlife
- fewer open spaces, hedges and trees where people live or work
- free rein for developers to ignore the environment when planning
- buildings without trees or plants, no community spaces or gardens

Why should communities AND nature miss out? Done right, nature makes every development high-quality, attractive and sustainable.

Nature makes us all healthier, happier and even wealthier.

If the government makes some easy changes now to this Bill, everyone could have wilder, healthier homes, workplaces, and lives.

We all deserve that.

Agree? Get involved

wtru.st/planning2025

Nature OR Development?
Let's have BOTH!

In a Wilder Future, everyone has wildlife and natural spaces nearby.

Nature helps us all in lots of ways!

New changes to planning laws could put this at risk.

The draft wording of a new Bill allows the Government to scrap some of the parts designed to protect nature.

That won't be good for wildlife, or people.

There's a chance right now to change things for the better.

New rules could lead to:

- less wildlife
- fewer open spaces, hedges and trees where people live or work
- free rein for developers to ignore the environment when planning
- buildings without trees or plants, no community spaces or gardens

Why should communities AND nature miss out? Done right, nature makes every development high-quality, attractive and sustainable.

Nature makes us all healthier, happier and even wealthier.

If the government makes some easy changes now to this Bill, everyone could have wilder, healthier homes, workplaces, and lives.

We all deserve that.

Agree? Get involved

wtru.st/planning2025

